UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

IN RE AMAZON CONSUMER SPEECH
LITIGATION

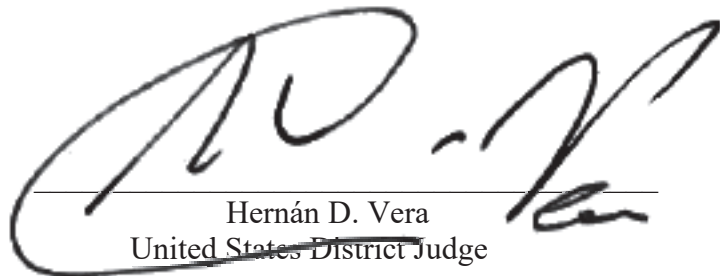

Case No. 2:24-cv-00089-HDV-E

NOTICE TO THE PARTIES

1 It has come to my attention that, beginning on May 29, 2025, I have owned 41 shares of 2 stock in Amazon.com, Inc. in a City National Bank-managed retirement account. My ownership of 3 this stock has not affected or impacted any decision in this case. Although my ownership of this
4 stock would ordinarily require recusal, Canon 3C(4) of the Code of Conduct for United States
5 Judges states that a judge is not disqualified because of “a financial interest in a party” if the judge
6 “divests the interest that provides the grounds for disqualification,” unless the interest could be 7 substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding. Advisory Opinion No. 69 from the Judicial
8 Conference's Committee on Codes of Conduct explains that a judge may divest the disqualifying
9 interest under Canon 3C(4) at the beginning of the case, after the judge has spent substantial time on 10 the case, or anytime in between.

11 Based on the issues presented in this case, I have concluded that my interest in Amazon.com,
12 Inc. could not be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding and have divested my 13 interest. Further, the public interest will be served by my continuing to preside over this case 14 because it will avoid having the matter reassigned to another judge.
